

IASE Membership Form

Join today - fill in your details below!

The International Association for Statistical Education (IASE) seeks to promote and improve statistics education and the learning and understanding of statistics and probability at all levels and contexts around the world. IASE is the education section of the Int'l Statistical Institute (ISI) and is the international umbrella organization for statistics education. It fosters international cooperation, and stimulates discussion and research. It disseminates ideas, strategies, research findings, materials and information using publications, international conferences, and its website.

Join IASE if you wish to participate in IASE's activities, or to support and learn about work on improving statistics education and extending its outreach.

Benefits of membership:

The most rewarding aspect of IASE membership is participating in an international community of people who believe in the value of statistics education and wish to advance it. Networking is important! Members also benefit from:

- reduced registration fees at IASE conferences and ISI conferences,
- receive updates from IASE and our research journal SERJ, the ISI Newsletter,
- subscribe at a reduced rate to statistical journals published by ISI,
- purchase other IASE and ISI publications at a discounted price.

To become a NEW IASE member: Fill out the form below, hand it in at the registration desk. You will be contacted after the meeting, via Email.

OR - join and pay online at: <http://bit.ly/IASE-member> or scan the code above.

Regular 1-year fee (Euro): €45 (developed countries) €14 only (developing countries) with reduced rates for retirees, teachers, and students.

Already ISI member? Join IASE at a reduced rate (details on the website form above).
